

COOKIE FILES

11.1. Our Site uses cookies. A cookie is a file that contains an identifier (a string of letters and numbers) that a web server sends to a web browser and saves the browser. The ID is then sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server. Cookies can be both "persistent" cookies and "session" cookies: a strong cookie will be stored by the web browser and will remain valid until the expiration date, if you have not deleted it before the expiration date; A cookie session, on the other hand, ends at the end of your session when your web browser closes. Cookies do not usually contain any personally identifiable information, but the personal information we hold about you may be related to information stored and received from cookies. 11.2. The names of the cookies we use on our Site and the purposes for which they are used are set out below:

we use Google Analytics on our Site to recognize your computer when a User visits our Site.

Most browsers allow you to opt out of cookies - for example: in Internet Explorer (version 10) you can block cookies using cookie management options by clicking "Tools", "Internet settings", "Privacy" and then "Advanced". ; in Firefox (version 24) You can block all cookies by clicking "Tools", "Settings", "Privacy", select "Use custom settings for history" from the drop-down menu and uncheck "Accept cookies from sites"; and in Chrome (version 29), you can block all cookies by going to the "Configure and manage" menu, clicking "Settings", "Show advanced settings" and "Content settings", then selecting "Block sites from setting up any data" "Under the heading" Cookies ".

11.3. Blocking all cookies will adversely affect the usability of the Site. If you block cookies, you will not be able to use all the features of our Site.

11.4. You can delete cookies that are already stored on your computer. Deleting cookies will negatively affect the usability of many websites. To delete cookies:

in Internet Explorer (version 10) you need to delete cookies manually (instructions can be found at <http://support.microsoft.com/kb/278835>);

in Firefox (version 24) You can delete cookies by clicking "Tools", "Settings" and "Privacy", then select "Use custom settings for history", click "Show cookies", and then click "Delete all cookies" »; and in Chrome (version 29), you can delete all cookies by going to the "Configure and manage" menu and clicking "Settings", "Show advanced settings" and "Clear browsing data", then select "Delete cookies and another site" and plug-in data before clicking 'Clear browsing data'.

12. CHANGE OF POLICY

12.1. We reserve the right to publish certain privacy notices, as well as to change and / or supplement the content of the Policy at any time in our sole discretion. 12.2. In the event of significant changes to the Policy, we will post a notice on the Site and specify the date of entry into force of these changes. If during the specified period you do not refuse to accept these changes in writing, it will mean that you have agreed to the relevant changes to the Policy.